Proposal

1. Identity (About Our Company / Brand Clarity)

1.1 Core Idea:

- Not content → Cinema / Visual narratives, Concept-first / Emotion-driven

1.2 "The 27th Frame" name meaning:

- The name "The 27th Frame" was not the result of a complex planning process but rather an instinctive decision. I already operate a cloud kitchen under the name "The 27th Plate," and I developed a strong personal connection to the "27th" identity.
- Using the same naming structure across my ventures helps create consistency and makes it easier for people to recognize and remember my work. Adopting completely different names for each business could make it harder for clients and audiences to associate my projects with me.
- Over time, "27th" has become more than just a number — it represents my personal brand and creative signature.

1.3 Tagline / Positioning

- "Every frame counts"

1.4 Visual style

- The visual approach of The 27th Frame is intentionally flexible and driven by brand identity rather than a fixed aesthetic. Visual language cannot be defined universally, as each brand carries its own character, audience, and emotional tone.
- For example, a jewelry or clothing brand may require a refined, luxury-oriented presentation, while other projects may demand a raw, minimal, or atmospheric treatment. A visually striking style that works beautifully in one context may feel inappropriate or misaligned in another.
- The focus is therefore on understanding the essence of the brand — its mood, positioning, and emotional core — and crafting visuals that authentically reflect that identity. Every project is approached as a unique visual expression rather than being forced into a predetermined style.

1.6 Target Market

- Brands
- Artists / musicians
- Events
- Personal brands
- Startups

2. Offer (What I sell)

2.1 Main Services

- Brand Films: Brand films are short cinematic videos that tell the story of a brand.
  They focus on emotion, identity, and mood rather than just selling a product.
  The goal is to make people feel connected to the brand and understand what it stands for

- Reels / Social Videos: Reels and social videos are short, engaging videos designed for social media platforms like Instagram, TikTok, and YouTube Shorts. They are made to grab attention quickly, showcase a brand, product, or idea, and encourage audience interaction. Unlike brand films, the focus is on fast, eye-catching content rather than long storytelling.

- Event After movies: Event after movies are cinematic recap videos of events, designed to capture the energy, atmosphere, and key moments. They go beyond just recording the event they highlight the emotions, experiences, and story of the day. The goal is to relive the event and create content that engages audiences long after it has ended.

- Commercial Ads: Commercial ads are videos created to promote a brand, product, or service. They focus on communicating key messages clearly, building brand awareness, and influencing the audience's perception or actions. Unlike brand films, commercial ads are more promotional and strategic, designed to drive engagement or sales.

- Music visuals: Music visuals are videos created to bring a song or music project to life. They focus on expressing the mood, emotion, and story of the music through cinematic imagery and creative visuals. The goal is to enhance the listener's experience and create a visual identity for the song or artist.

- 10% Collaborations
- 5% Events

4.2 Conversation System

- Pitch message

We are:

- Positioning
- Showing value
- Speaking solution
- Not begging

Our Pitch Must Have 4 Parts:

- Observation (show we studied them)
- Value (how we improve them)
- Confidence (authority tone)
- Clear next step (call / meeting)

No long paragraphs.

Short. Direct. Professional.

- ➢ Portfolio / show reel
- ➢ Pricing clarity

- ➢ Follow-up strategy
- Day 1 → Send pitch
- Day 3 → Follow up politely
- Day 7 → Final follow up

Follow-up tone:

Confident, not desperate.

4.3 Client Types

- ➢ Low Budget Clients

These are:

- Small cafes
- Startups
- Instagram sellers
- Small event organizers

Characteristics:

- Price sensitive
- More negotiation
- Fast decisions
- Smaller projects
- Short-term mindset

Good For:

- Cash flow
- Practice
- Portfolio building
- Improving speed

Risk:

If we only work with them:

- We become “cheap video guy”

➢ High Budget Clients

These are:

- Established brands
- Luxury hotels
- Corporate companies
- Premium weddings
- Marketing agencies

Characteristics:

- Less price negotiation
- More professional
- Clear expectations
- Bigger scope
- Bigger responsibility

Good For:

- Brand positioning
- Bigger profits
- Reputation
- Portfolio credibility

✓ Low budget = Survival
✓ High budget = Positioning

- ➢ One-Off Clients
- One project
- One payment
- No future guarantee

Example:

- Wedding highlight
- Single promo video
- Event recap

Good For:

- Quick money

Problem:

- Constantly chasing new clients.
- No stability.

- ➢ Long Term Clients

Example:

- Monthly social media content
- 4 reels per month
- Quarterly brand films
- Ongoing event coverage

Benefits:

- Predictable income
- Stable cash flow
- Relationship building
- Less marketing stress
- This is where business becomes stable.

“Smart Move” (Convert one-off clients into long-term.)

After finishing a project:

- Don’t disappear.

Offer:

- “Would you like us to handle your monthly content strategy?”
- Now we become partner, not vendor.

➢ Survival Clients

- They pay our rent.
- They help us to survive.

But:

- Low brand value
- No prestige
- No long-term vision

➢ Strategic Clients

- These are clients that elevate us.
- Even if profit is moderate,
- Their brand name increases our value.

Example:

- If we shoot for a known hotel or big event,
- Now our profile looks stronger.

Strategic clients bring:

- Better portfolio
- More high-level referrals
- Bigger perception

Ask this before accepting a project:

- Does this bring?
- Money?
- Reputation?
- Network?
- Long-term relationship?

“If the answer is none — think twice”

➢ Growth Phase

- 40% Survival clients (cash flow)
- 30% Strategic clients (positioning)
- 20% Long-term retainers (stability)
- 10% Experimental / passion projects

5. GROWTH SYSTEM

“It is a strategic weapon / Our Assets”

5.1 Portfolio Building

➢ Speculative Projects / Free or our own projects

- We create a commercial or brand film without being hired.
- We imagine a brand and create content as if they hired us.

Why this is powerful:

- Full creative control
- No client restrictions
- Shows our vision
- Attracts better clients

➢ Passion Projects
➢ Signature Projects

- Collaborations

This is growth without spending money.

We collaborate with:

- Models
- Makeup artists
- Photographers
- Stylists
- Influencers
- Musicians

Smart collab strategy:

- Choose people slightly above our current level.

- How This Scales our Business

- Spec work → Attracts better clients
- Passion projects → Builds director identity
- Collabs → Expands network
- Signature style → Creates brand recognition

This increases:

- Perceived value
- Pricing power
- Demand

5.2 Brand Authority

- Consistent Visuals

That means:

- Clean typography
- Same logo placement

- Recognizable Style

Recognizable style means:

- People can identify our work without seeing our logo.

- Case Study

Most small production houses just post videos.

Professionals show case studies.

Case study structure:

- Client problem
- Our strategy
- The execution
- The result

Example:

- “Cafe X wanted to increase foot traffic.
- We created 3 cinematic reels focusing on ambiance.
- Within 2 weeks, engagement increased 40%.”

Case studies show:

- We think like a strategist, not just a videographer.

- Social Proof

Includes:

- Client testimonials (video is powerful)
- Screenshots of appreciation messages
- Behind-the-scenes professionalism
- Working with known brands
- Event crowd visuals

When people see:

- “Others trust 27th Frame”
- They feel safe to pay.

5.3 FINANCIAL GROWTH (How Income Actually Increases)

There are only 3 powerful levers:

- Charge more
- Earn repeatedly
- Position higher

➢ Rate Upgrades (Controlled Price Increase)

If we charge the same rate for 2–3 years, we are not growing.

Price should increase when:

- Portfolio improves
- Demand increases
- Confidence increases
- Quality improves
- Clients say “okay” too fast

Smart Upgrade Method

Don’t jump randomly.

Increase:

- 10–20% every 4–6 months.

Example:

- If our reel package is 25K
- Next phase → 30K
- Then → 35K

Test the market.

If nobody complains?

We were undercharging.

Important Rule

Never increase price without increasing value.

Add:

- Better color grading
- Stronger sound design
- Faster delivery
- Clearer branding

Price must match perception.

- Retainer Clients (Stable Monthly Income)

This is how you stop being stressed.

Retainer = Client pays you monthly.

Example:

- 4 reels per month
- 2 shoots per month
- Social media content package

Instead of chasing 10 random clients,

We build 3 strong retainers.

If each pays 80K per month:

- That’s 240K stable base income.

Now survival pressure reduces.

Then we can focus on premium work.

Retainers = Freedom.

- Higher-Value Positioning (This Is the Game Changer)

This is not about skill.

It's about perception.

Two videographers with same camera:

- One charges 30K.
- One charges 200K.

Why?

Positioning.

Higher-value positioning means:

- We don't sell "video".
- We sell "brand elevation".
- We sell "visual strategy".
- We sell "cinematic identity".
- Language matters.

Instead of:

- "We shoot reels."

Say:

- "We craft cinematic visual assets that increase brand perception."
- We are moving from vendor → creative partner.

Strategic Financial Path for Us

Stage 1 (Now):

- Build survival income + small retainers.

Stage 2:

- Increase rates slowly + improve authority.

Stage 3:

- Focus on premium brand films + 3–5 strong retainers.

Stage 4:

- Choose projects.
- Not chase them.

➢ Why this mind map matters

Without this map:

- We chase random projects
- Brand looks inconsistent
- Pricing becomes emotional
- Growth becomes accidental

With this map:

- Decisions become easy
- Brand becomes intentional
- Revenue path becomes logical
- Style becomes recognizable
